

AGRICULTURAL & APPLIED ECONOMICS AAE

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON

November 15, 2013

Testimonial

I have interacted with Dr. Sieber on matters related to international dairy development for several years and I collaborated with him on an educational assignment in the Philippines in 2007.

Dr. Sieber is extremely knowledgeable and up-to-date on animal genetics and dairy management issues. Equally important, he is able to convey his knowledge to diverse audiences in a concise and well-organized fashion. He works effectively with producers, technicians, government officials and others; asking the right questions and providing relevant, valuable insights and recommendations.

He has enormous energy and is consistently very well prepared for assignments. His reports are comprehensive and well-written.

Edward V. Jesse

Emeritus Professor, Department of Agricultural and Applied Economics,
University of Wisconsin-Madison

Director of Trade and Policy Studies, Babcock Institute,
University of Wisconsin-Madison